The same cycle has very different sensitive phases

Color marks the largest linear growth available during the next period, starting at that point.

Both references have full-period Floquet spectral radius 0.25. This is asymptotic attraction, not a guarantee that every perturbation shrinks by four in one period. Projected crossings are not orbit intersections.